Frequently Asked Questions for Multi-Action Digestive Enzymes

Q. When should my patients take Multi-Action Digestive Enzymes?

A. That depends on the benefits your patients are looking for. In cases of digestive support, you can recommend 1 to 2 tablets, three times daily before meals. For overall systemic support and relief of occasional muscle soreness due to exercise or overuse, you may recommend 1-2 tablets between meals on an empty stomach for the best results.*

Q. What does "10X" pancreatic enzymes mean?

A. The United States Pharmacopeia (USP) has set strict definitions for the level of activity for pancreatic enzymes, measured by how effectively each enzyme breaks down its targeted nutrient type. Pancreatin that is labeled as 10X is 10 times more potent than the USP minimum.

Less potent pancreatin has often been diluted with salt, lactose, or galactose. The best results for supporting digestion and systemic health come from full strength, undiluted pancreatin.*
