Ginseng for stamina & endurance

A botanical blend to support nitric oxide (NO) production*

Improves Sexual Performance!*

Every man wants to be his best in every situation, including intimacy. But finding effective support for libido and performance can be difficult. Male Sexual Health can help. It supports the healthy desire, energy, and circulation that are keys to a healthy sex life.* It combines botanicals especially chosen for:

- Libido
- Performance
- Stamina
- Satisfaction
- Healthy circulation & blood flow throughout the body*

HRG80 Ginseng: An Adaptogen for Libido and Performance*

HRG80 ginseng is different than any other ginseng available. It is hydroponically grown and carefully tended in ideal, controlled conditions without pesticides, toxins, or harsh solvent extraction methods. It also concentrates levels of some of the herb's most powerful compounds, called noble ginsenosides.

HRG80 ginseng has seven times more rare, noble ginsenosides than found in leading ginseng supplements. Conventionally grown ginseng products generally feature poorly absorbed, larger ginsenosides that have to be converted by the digestive tract into the noble form before they can be of real value.

By contrast, noble ginsenosides from HRG80 ginseng were shown to be 17 times more absorbable in an in-vitro scientific test (Caco-2 study) than the classic ginsenosides found in conventionally grown ginseng. That means more support for male sexual enhancement than you would find with conventionally-grown ginseng that is generally low in absorbable, noble ginsenosides and potentially high in toxins, pesticides, and heavy metals.*

A Botanical Blend for Nitric Oxide (NO) Production*

This formula also includes an award-winning botanical blend that supports the production of nitric oxide—the body's "on switch" for healthy blood flow and circulation. A clinical study found that this blend supported a significant improvement in sexual function in 74 percent of men over age 45.*

The best results for sexual enhancement occur over time with continued use of this safe and effective formula.*

Critical Mineral Power

Zinc is included in this formula for healthy testosterone and libido support.*

Frequently Asked Questions for Male Sexual Health*

Q. How soon will I notice results?

A. The ingredients in Male Sexual Health are a powerful combination and work best over time. The thing to bear in mind with Male Sexual Health is that these ingredients work with your mind and body, rather than provide an “all at once” kind of feeling. So continued use of this safe and effective formula yields the best results.*

Q. I've heard that ginseng is susceptible to picking up toxins or pesticides through its roots. Is this something I need to worry about with your product?

A. No. The HRG80™ ginseng that we feature in our red ginseng supplements is hydroponically grown. Because the ginseng roots are carefully cultivated and provided with optimal growing conditions without the need for pesticides or exposure to soil-borne toxins, the plant thrives and produces the beneficial compounds we look for that make a good supplement. Those compounds include noble ginsenosides, which are rare in conventionally grown ginseng roots.

Q. How absorbable are the compounds from ginseng?

A. That depends on the quality of the ginseng, an individuals' level of healthy gut bacteria, and the quantity of compounds in the ginseng that you start with.

Much of the conventionally grown ginseng contains what are known as classic or common ginsenosides. These are converted in the gut into noble ginsenosides, which are more easily absorbed in the intestines and used by the body. However, the conversion rate may be slow and cumbersome in the digestive system, and doesn't guarantee that you'll see any energizing benefits from the botanical.

HRG80 ginseng, by comparison, is grown in such a way that it already has more noble ginsenosides in the roots—7 times more than a leading, conventionally grown ginseng supplement, in fact. A Caco-2 study found that the ginsenosides in HRG80 were 17 times more absorbable than a leading European ginseng supplement.

The traditional Korean steaming process helps ginsenosides become more absorbed or bioavailable as well, but starting off with a higher level of rare, noble ginsenosides makes good sense if you want to see results.

Q. Will ginseng make me jittery?

A. Our HRG80 red ginseng supplements help you feel more energized by helping you feel more resilient to stress.^ You may find that not only do you feel more energized during the day, you'll also feel more relaxed overall, and feel a greater sense of sexual desire, too.*

Q. What makes it “red” ginseng? Isn't all ginseng the same?

A. Although both red and white Panax ginseng (also known as Asian ginseng) are from the same species, they are not processed the same way.

White ginseng is generally air dried, while red ginseng is traditionally steamed, which gives it a red/brown color. Steaming can help make ginseng compounds—known as ginsenosides—better absorbed, and that may be one of the reasons that Korean practitioners typically preferred red ginseng.

Q. What is the difference between Asian and American ginseng?

A. There are several other herbs that have been known as “ginseng”. These include Eleutherococcus senticosus, often simply called eleuthero, which was once commonly known as Siberian ginseng, and Panax quinquefolius, which is grown and harvested in the United States. Panax quinquefolius (commonly called American ginseng) shares common characteristics with Panax ginseng, but is considered a separate species.

Q. How is circulation related to sexual enhancement?

A. Healthy circulation is critical to sexual function. That is why we've included a botanical blend that supports nitric oxide (NO) production in this formula. Nitric oxide is a molecule naturally produced by the body that helps blood vessels relax and expand, allowing a healthier level of blood flow. And that support makes a difference, acting as an “on switch” for blood flow throughout the body. In fact, in a clinical survey, the botanical blend in Male Sexual Health have been shown to support a significant improvement for 74 percent of men over age 45.*
